Turner Classic Movies (TCM) & FilmStruck Announce Executive Promotions

Richard Steiner Promoted To SVP of Digital Products & Services

Lydia Kim Elevated To Vice President of Business Development & Strategy

CJ Bargamian Joins as Vice President of OTT Services for FilmStruck

Turner Classic Movies (TCM) and FilmStruck today announce a number of promotions and a new hire to its executive team. Richard Steiner has been promoted to senior vice president of digital products and services, up from vice president of digital products and services; Lydia Kim was promoted to vice president of business development and strategy, up from director of business development and strategy; and CJ Bargamian joins the FilmStruck team as vice president of OTT services. All three executives are based in Atlanta and Steiner and Kim will continue to report to Jennifer Dorian, executive vice president of 360 brand strategy and general manager of TCM and FilmStruck. Bargamian will report to Steiner.

In his elevated role, Richard Steiner will be responsible for all aspects of digital development and strategy for both brands, including managing all digital and online platforms, overseeing the digital components for TCM brand and event initiatives such as the TCM Classic Film Festival and TCM's fan club, Backlot. He will also be charged with revenue strategies and technical oversight of FilmStruck including product distribution, user interface guidelines, new product development and existing digital product improvements. Additionally, Steiner will oversee all operations for the TCM digital business including its website, as well as the network's multiplatform initiatives such as the Watch TCM App and other mobile products. Previously, Steiner served as vice president of digital products and services where he was responsible for all facets of digital development and strategy for TCM, including supporting the linear channel as well as new business extensions for the division.

In her new role, Lydia Kim will develop long-term growth strategies for TCM and FilmStruck, oversee forecasting, cross-functional coordination between departments as well as create both the long-range and short-term strategic planning for both brands. Kim previously served as the director of business development and strategy for TCM where she provided overall project management for the launch of FilmStruck and crafted assessments and budget presentations for annual goals, business updates and research summaries.

CJ Bargamian joins FilmStruck to lead the day-to-day operations including overseeing consumer outreach, marketing, acquisition, subscriber communication, customer experience, product design, forecasting and subscriber analytics. Bargamian joins the team from Starz, where he served as vice president of digital marketing, leading the digital and social media marketing strategy for all Starz original programming and the Starz brand. He recently oversaw the launch of Starz OTT app, including marketing strategy, subscriber acquisition and day-to-day operations.

"Richard and Lydia have been vital to the success of our brands and their strategic vision, strong leadership and focus on developing fan-first experiences make them among the best in the business," said Jennifer Dorian. "CJ is a great addition to our FilmStruck team and I'm confident his experience in the direct-to-consumer space will help the brand continue its successful climb as an immersive SVOD offering.”
