Mountain Dew is joining truTV to help fuel the fun in San Diego as part of the brand's year-long, fan-engaged partnership with the Impractical Jokers. Building on their robust, multi-platform campaign, Mountain Dew will have exclusive ownership of this interactive fan experience with high-impact touchpoints throughout the block party. From the VR high wire walk, which will integrate Mountain Dew branding into the cityscape billboards, to photo opportunities with larger-than-life characters from animated short-form content, and custom branded videos projected on the outfield Jumbotron, Mountain Dew will help enhance the activation with non-stop entertainment. To extend the fun to fans at home, videos will be shot on-the-ground, shared across truTV's social handles and optimized via Turner's optimization capability Launchpad. Complimentary Mountain Dew and Pepsi products will be available on-site to fuel all-day refreshment.

The Mountain Dew partnership with truTV's Impractical Jokers was negotiated by DEW's media agency OMD and developed and executed by Omnicom Media Group's Content Collective and Turner.

New episodes from Impractical Jokers' sixth season return on Thursday, July 13 at 10:00 p.m. ET/PT with a special hour-long episode that drops the four long-time friends in Hawaii.
